

On truth, pathways, and interactions

Andrey Rzhetsky, Ph.D.
Center for Computational Bioinformatics at Columbia University

Abstract:

I will give an overview of our effort to automatically extract pathway information from a large number of full-text research articles (GeneWays system), automatically curate the extracted information, and to combine the literature-derived information with sequence and experimental (such as yeast two-hybrid) data using a probabilistic approach.