February 25, 2013

Dr. Bertha Hidalgo, postdoctoral fellow in the Department of Biostatistics, Section on Statistical Genetics has been selected as this year’s Outstanding Woman Postdoctoral Fellow award recipient. The reception will be held on March 14, 2013 in the HUC Great Hall. Seven women including, Dr. Hidalgo, will be honored as the UAB Outstanding Women for 2013 during the ceremony.

The UAB Women’s Center and Women’s Studies Program present the awards annually during Women’s History Month to honor female members of the UAB and Birmingham communities who have mentored or served other women, taken a courageous stance or overcome adversity.

Dr. Hidalgo's research interests are related to epigenetics and epidemiology, with a special focus on health disparities and Latino populations.