April 12, 2011

Dr. Richard Kennedy, assistant professor in the Section on Statistical Genetics in the Department of Biostatistics at UAB, has been selected from a field of highly competitive applications to attend the 2011 SRI conference at Weill Cornell Medical College in White Plains, New York from July 17 - July 22. All expenses will be covered by a grant to Weill Cornell Medical College from the National Institute of Mental Health (R25 MH019946).

The Summer Research Institute in Geriatric Mental Health (SRI) is a program with the goal of promoting the career advancement of talented post-residency (MD or DO) and post-doctoral (PhD, PsyD, or PharmD) fellows and other early stage investigators who hold promise for a research career in geriatric mental health translational, interventions, or services research. SRI is not oriented toward pre-doctoral students. SRI meets as an annual five day research career development institute as well as offering ongoing web-based career development support.
